June 1, 2003, 6:30-10:30pm
Asian Cultural Center

SARS outbreak recently in China has caught our heart. This deadly disease has already claimed hundreds of lives and quarantined tens of thousands of potential patients. Medical doctors, nurses and other healthcare workers have left behind their children, spouses and parents to work day and night to save people's lives at the risk of their own.

The Association of Boston Chinese Professionals Anti-SARS Committee, including 11 organizations, and Asian Culture Center held this benefit consulting fair and dancing party. This was the first one of series activities to raise money for supporting the fight against SARS in China. OCEAN was the major organizer of this event.

To have a fine and benefit event, we arranged a free consulting fair for medical, health, drug development, SARS, entrepreneurship, business administration, investment, intellectual property, and estate planning, organization introduction, etc., and a dancing party.

All profits from this income were donated to the Red Cross for Anti-SARS purpose.
